West Sacramento levees receive reality check

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Despite several large levee improvement projects, West Sacramento has less flood protection than previously believed.

"In a nutshell, our Sacramento River levees are in a similar condition to Natomas's river levees – they'll need work on 'underseepage' issues," said Steve Patek, community development director for West Sacramento. "We don't believe we can show a 100-year level of flood protection, but we're not sure if it's 80-year, 30-year or whatever. The irony is that our levees are in the best condition they have ever been in after all the work we've done."

A "100-year" level of flood protection means that a community is presumed safe from all but the level of water experienced in a "once in a hundred years" kind of storm event. So a bigger number is better when it comes to flood protection, and just a few years ago, the city was aiming for a 400-year level of protection.

Two main things have changed in recent years: experts' understanding of how levees work, and increased attention from the public and the government on preventing urban flooding, explained Patek.

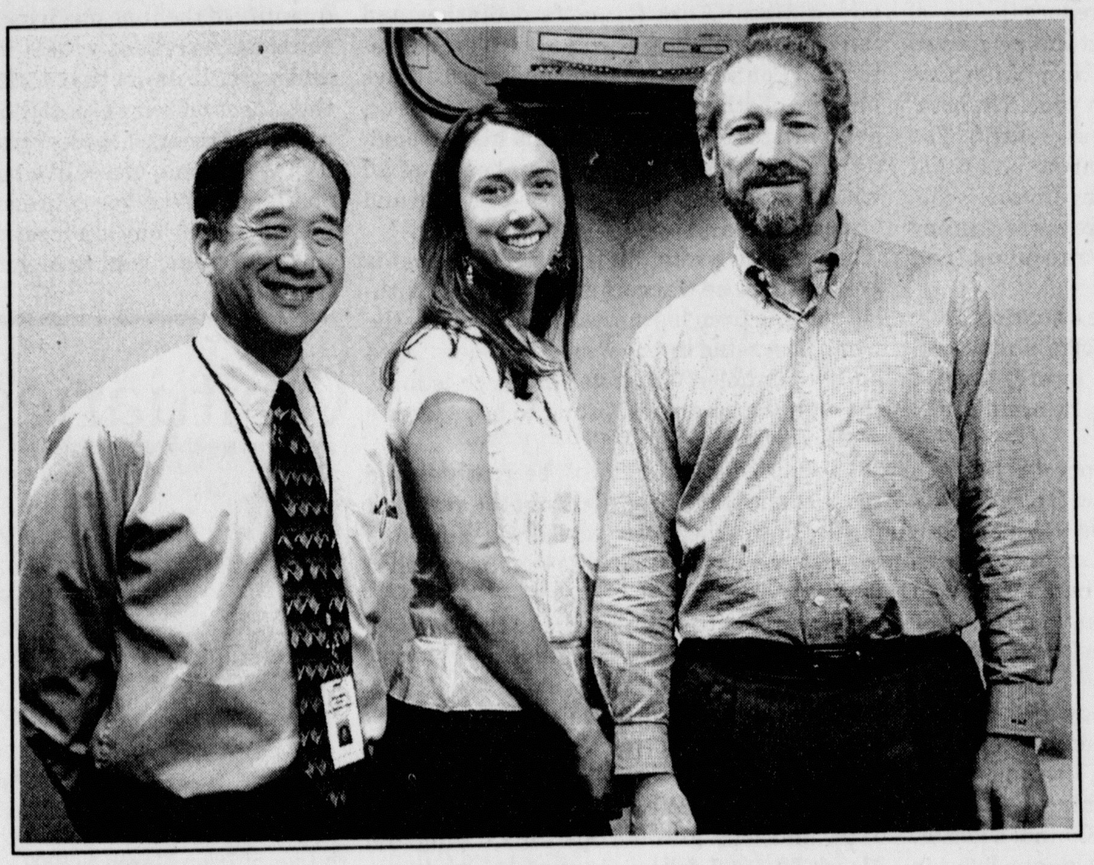

"What Hurricane Katrina did was put the fear of God into the regulatory agencies, like FEMA, the (state) Department of Water Resources and the Army Corps," said Patek. "What has changed is the level of enthusiasm for enforcing levee standards."

The Sacramento area is regarded as possibly the highest-risk metropolitan area in the U.S. for potential flooding, he added. "New Orleans actually has a higher level of flood protection than we do – they just experienced a bigger storm."

After New Orleans showed that a major American city really can suffer a devastating flood, the federal government mandated jurisdictions like West Sacramento re-evaluate their levees according to the best available science. That science has changed over the years. A new West Sacramento levee report is now being written – and is expected to show a "seepage" threat, and a disappointing level of flood protection.

"The focus used to be largely on levee height," said Patek. "Now, it's increasingly on levee structure."

And in this city, the major challenge is fighting "underseepage," or the propensity of water to filter through the soil underneath a levee and come up on the other side.

WILLARD TIM CHOW (left) is the city's first "flood protection manager; SHANNA ZUSPAN (center) is helping put together a new flood protection assessment district; STEPHEN PATEK (right) is the director of community development in West Sacramento. The three are among those involved in a series of local flood control workshops which continue on April 17, May 15 & June 5.

"They've always known about underseepage – it comes out in a 'boil', and you put sandbags around it. But it could take a lot of sandbags" to handle a major seepage problem," Patek said with understatement.

Treatment for seepage-prone levees varies. If there's an impermeable base of clay under the levee, than engineers can dig a deep trench through the levee to that base, and fill the trench with a "slurry" wall to prevent water from seeping through the levee above that clay base. Other possible treatments include an impermeable "blanket" reaching 100-300 feet inside the levee to prevent water from percolating upwards if it does seep through, or use of a "relief well" inside the levee to give encroaching water a managed place to go, diverting it into the stormwater system.

But the "blanket" requires a lot of real estate, and a well needs constant monitoring and maintenance.

Whatever the final prescription of solutions, West

New school: $160 million

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The new high school campus budgeted several years ago at under $100 million will probably end up costing slightly over $160 million, school board members learned on Thursday. Dramatically rising costs of construction – especially materials like steel – were pegged as the main culprit.

Local voters in 2004 approved a $52 million bond to help pay for the campus, expecting state financing sources to pick up most of the rest of the tab. Facing a construction shortfall, officials with Washington Unified School District plan to delay building a major classroom building and a theater at the school in order to keep initial costs down.

"In May of 2005, we were budgeting at that time for $310 per square foot," reported Turner Construction's Harry Smith to the board. "Then we made some changes, including changing some masonry blocks to steel. In July, we budgeted at that time for $375 per foot...and tried to push it back into a lower-cost mode."

Final numbers have gone even higher – to $409 per square foot, said Smith, who argued that this still compared well to school building costs of $530/square foot now being experienced at Folsom/Cordova and $428/ square foot in Antelope.

Smith also said that the district's design – which started with designing a "program," instead of starting with a fixed budget – led to higher costs. Part of that "program" concept is construction of several "small learning communities" on the school site.

"Some customers come in and say, 'I have $70 million – what can I get?' That wasn't the case here, this was a program-driven job."

"I can tell you that if I had the latitude of working with a designer and putting in a (single) six-story building there, it would be substantially less," Smith said.

"A mistake that was made: we didn't include the (cost) escalation necessary, pure and simple," added Smith. "I don't think anyone anticipated 25 percent (construction cost increases) over two years."

Two prior members of the school board sternly accused the board of blaming their prior administration for the district's underestimation of cost. One of them, Pat Flint, even refused to sit down when board president Barry Kalar informed her that her three minutes at the speaking podium were up.

"Why was there such a delay? The school should have been opened this year," said Flint, adding that in all of her years involved with school district, she has "never seen such gross physical negligence."

The actual estimate of over $160 million for the new campus did not, however, come as part of the presentation by Turner's Harry Smith and WUSD's Denny Jones on the school construction costs. The figures presented during the report focused on the initial cost estimates and on the changing "per square foot" estimates without a look at the big picture.

Board member Dave Westin prodded staff members for an "apples to apples" comparison of the current total estimate to the initial $99 million estimate.

The portion of the high school now scheduled to be built, answered WUSD official Denny Jones, will cost about $145 million including architectural fees and other "soft costs." Under further questioning from Westin, district officials estimated that the planned theater (removed to save money) will be another $10 million, and a to-be-built-later classroom building will be about $8.5 million, bringing the project total to around $161.5 million.

The district plans to ask voters to approve a $65 million school bond in November, partly to help bridge the costs. Also to be funded by the bond – if approved – is a plan to convert local "kindergarten through sixth" grade schools into "kindergarten through eighth" grade schools, and to phase out the district's middle school.

Responding officer evades truck, spins into crash

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A West Sacramento police officer crashed into a pole near a commercial center at the corner of Park and Jefferson boulevards at about 1:50 a.m. last Wednesday. He was taken to the UCD Medical Center with injuries not believed to be serious.

Lieutenant Dave Farmer reports that Officer Jack Hatton activated his emergency lights while rushing to "cover" another officer. The other officer reported following a vehicle believed involved in an earlier armed robbery.

Hatton, southbound, had activated his emergency lights and was entering the intersection during a red light when he saw a truck start to turn left in front of him from Park Blvd. Hatton evaded the truck but lost control of the patrol car in wet conditions and spun into a pole on the west side of Jefferson.

He is a three-and-a-half year member of the department, said Farmer.

City council gives 'green' light

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's city council last week directed its staff to pursue new policies to reduce the community's carbon emissions as a local response to climate change worries. The city will explore a wide-ranging set of ideas such as adopting energy-efficient standards for construction, purchasing fuel-efficient vehicles for city fleet use, and pursuing land use plans that allow for public transit.

The issue was introduced to the council by Mayor Christopher Cabaldon, who said he has been active in a mayor's group concerned about "global warming" caused by human activities, particularly the discharge of carbon dioxide and other "greenhouse" gases from fossil fuel use.

"The science behind climate change and the human impacts behind climate change is now largely undisputed," argued Cabaldon.

"For us (in West Sacramento), the major issues relate to water, including greater variability in the water flows going past us," added Cabaldon. "We're already seeing earlier and earlier dates in the year in which the snow is (no longer) remaining on the ground. This is going to get worse before it gets any better...the level of change in human actions has to be absolutely massive in order to even arrest the growth of carbon in the atmosphere."

Cabaldon said that the federal government has failed to take adequate action – but cities are in a good position to make a difference.

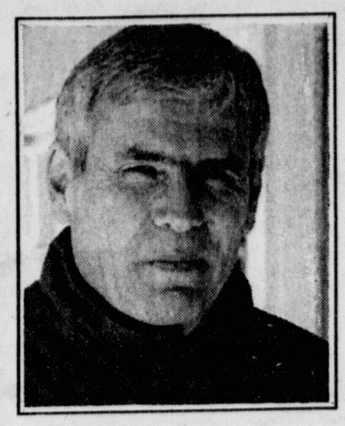

"The vast majority of the carbon dioxide are created by buildings and by transportation," he said, "and both happen to be areas in which cities play major roles."

"Land use policies that reduce sprawl and preserve open space are good for carbon emissions but they're also

Young Connor Coen loses his battle with cancer

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

As long as there has been a West Sacramento, there has always been a Coen or two running around. Jack Coen moved to Bryte almost 70 years ago and has lived in West Sacramento his entire adult life. He and his wife, Janet, raised their large family here, and all four of their children (John, Mike, Ronnie and Michelle) attended and graduated from local schools.

John Coen, Jack's oldest son, graduated from River City High School in 1980 and after completing college in Chico, left the state to study optometry in Missouri. He and his wife, Brenda, currently live in Auburn, where they have been raising their three sons, Jansen, Connor, and Hayden.

This past July, seven-year old Connor was unexpectedly hospitalized and a CT scan of his abdomen revealed a tumor just above his kidney. Further tests determined that Connor had a very rare and aggressive type of cancer which is most often found in infants and very difficult to cure when discovered in children above the age of two. After undergoing numerous chemotherapy treatments to reduce the size of the tumor, surgery to remove it was performed at Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital in New York City in January of this year. Unfortunately, the surgery was not successful. The tumor was too vascular in nature and could not be removed without risking Connor's life. Connor then had to endure more chemotherapy treatments, a bone marrow transplant, and radiation.

Connor handled this horrible situation like a true hero. Through all the worry and fear of his parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, brothers, cousins and friends, he maintained a positive attitude.

A few months ago, while Connor and his family were still in New York, West Sacramento's Our Lady of Grace School hosted a Connor Coen Benefit Dinner and Silent Auction and with the help of numerous local businesses and scores of friends of the Coen family, over $40,000 was raised to help with Connor's medical expenses.

"The gratitude that we feel toward our family and friends in the West Sacramento community for their outpouring of love and generosity during our family's terrible ordeal is immeasurable," said John Coen, Connor's father.

Tragically, this past week, Connor lost his seven-month struggle with cancer.

"The loss of Connor is very hard to accept," said Jack Coen, Connor's grandfather, "but his battle with cancer was very hard on him. I'm going to miss him so much, but I'm thankful he is no longer suffering."

"There are no words to express the heartbreak that we feel over the loss of our little Bubba," added Mike Coen, Connor's godfather and uncle, and a lifelong resident of West Sacramento. "Connor was compassionate and always mindful of other's feelings. He handled his ordeal with barely a complaint and his personality and sweet smile melted the hearts of all who crossed his path. He was a precious and loving child, and we will miss him dearly."

Camus once wrote, "In the brief time that is given to him, he warms and illuminates without turning from his mortal road. Sown by the wind, harvested by the wind, ephemeral seed and nevertheless creative sun, such is man, through the centuries, proud to have lived a single instant."

In Connor's "single instant", he gently graced the earth he walked, brought out the very best in all those who knew and loved him, and leaves behind countless lives that he enriched beyond words.

"There are better things ahead than any we leave behind." Godspeed, Connor.

Below is Connor Coen's obituary, penned by his family:

Connor James Coen was born on October 8, 1998 and was granted his angel wings on March 20, 2007, following a courageous battle with neuroblastoma, an aggressive form of childhood cancer. His final days were spent wrapped in the love of his family and friends as his short, yet very memorable earthly life drew to a close.

CONNOR COEN

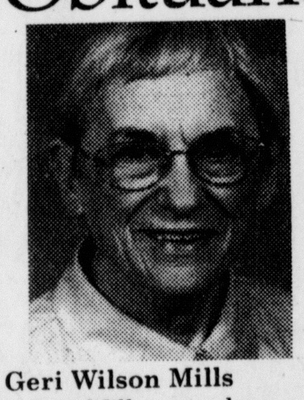

Connor's life would seem too short to many, but those who were touched by him understand that the quality of existence far exceeds the quantity of the time one lives. He had a strong character, excellent morals, keen intelligence, and a gentle smile that melted the hearts of those around him. Throughout his illness, he possessed strength, perseverance, and an ability to overcome incredible odds and physical challenges. With his courage he led us to believe that each day is a blessing and an opportunity to create lasting memories.

Connor loved animals, sports, art, music, reading, games and "collections" of various shapes and sizes. His favorite colors were red and blue. With his passing we remind others that life (ours and his) is to be celebrated. Although we will miss him everyday, he will forever remain in our hearts. He left us so many wonderful memories and by his inspiration we have all been able to draw an ever-widening circle of love.

Connor is survived by his loving parents, John and Brenda Coen; his brothers, Jansen and Hayden; his great grandmother, Olga Sorensen; his grandparents, Jack Coen, and Arnie and Becky Sorensen; his aunts and uncles, Mike and LaVonne Coen, Ronnie and Sue Powell, Michelle Coen, Gayle and David Stringer, Denise and Larry Ward, Gina and Chris LaBounty, and Jason Sorensen; his cousins, Ian, AJ, Aaron, Adam, Kelsey, Alex, Jeffrey, Nicholas, Kayleigh, Anna and Jennifer; and countless other close relatives and friends. He was predeceased by his grandmother, Janet Coen, who was waiting to wrap him in her loving arms in heaven.

A Celebration of Life Mass will be held for Connor on Saturday, March 31, 2007 at 1 p.m. at Saint Teresa of Avila Church, 11600 Atwood Road in Auburn, California. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to: Children's Neuroblastoma Cancer Foundation (CNCF); The Delta Society; or Ronald McDonald House Charities.

Geri Wilson Mills

Geri Mills passed away at the age of 78 on March 4, 2007. She was a West Sacramento resident for 43 years with her late husband, Roger B. Mills.

Geri was born on July 12, 1928 to Hoke and Eva Wilson in Jackson, Mississippi. At the age of 12, she moved to California with her parents and sister and completed her school years in Oakland. She attended two years of college at San Francisco State and then went to Samuel Merit School of Nursing, where she was valedictorian of her class. In 1951, she completed her state boards, began working as an operating room nurse, and married Roger Mills on September 15th. She retired from Sutter General Hospital in 1993 after 30 years of service.

Geri was active in the Nazarene church and served as Sunday School teacher for many different age groups. She had no children but did have an honorary daughter, Mary P. Rodriguez of West Sacramento; one sister, Wilma E. Rhodes of Tenino, WA.; one brother, Paul F. Wilson of Olalla, WA.; and many nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held on March 31, 2007 at 2 p.m. at the First Church of the Nazarene in Sacramento. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Geri's name to First Church of the Nazarene, 1820 28th Street, Sacramento, CA 95816.

Ruben R. Salas

Ruben Salas was born on July 24, 1949 in Kennedy, Texas and passed away on March 25, 2007 in West Sacramento. He was the loving husband for 34 years to Concepcion; the cherished father of Ruben Jr., Leonardo (Ashley), Gabriela and Sofia Salas; and the adored grandfather of Juanita, Ruben Bicente III, Izavelah, Sofia Concepcion, Leonardo Jr., and Gabriel Salas. He is also survived by seven brothers and sisters, and numerous nieces, nephews and friends.

Ruben was a truck driver all his life. He loved his family, playing the guitar and singing. He will be sadly missed and always remembered.

Visitation will be held on Wednesday, March 28th, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and on Thursday, March 29th from noon to 6 p.m. at River Cities Funeral Chapel in West Sacramento. A Rosary will follow at 7 p.m. at Holy Cross Church, 1321 Anna Street in West Sacramento. Funeral services will be held on March 30, 2007 at 10 a.m. at Holy Cross Church. Burial will immediately follow at St. Mary's Cemetery in Sacramento.

Jay L. White

Jay White was born on August 20, 1915 in Watford City, North Dakota and passed away on March 19, 2007 in Sacramento. He was the loving father of Joyce (Bill) Blevins; the cherished grandfather of La Verna (David) Santillano and Lonnie Blevins Sr.; and the adored great grandfather of Nicholas, Michael and Marcus Santillano, and Christine and Lonnie Blevins Jr. He is also survived by numerous nieces, nephews and friends, and was preceded in death by his wife of 68 years, Malena.

Jay was an active member of Moose Lodge #1762 for 71 years.

Funeral services were held on March 27, 2007 at River Cities Funeral Chapel in West Sacramento. Burial was at East Lawn Memorial Park.

George E. Towne

George Towne passed away on March 13, 2007 at the age of 89 in Sacramento. He was the beloved husband of the late Signe Towne; the loving father of Michael (Marina) Towne, Janet Baker and Georgia (Robert) Eldridge; the devoted grandfather of Jackie and Joe Baker, Robert Eldridge Jr., and Douglas Eldridge; and the great grandfather of Stefanie, Shelby, Robert III, Austin, Jonah and Payton.

George was born in Dumont, Iowa and was a 52 year resident of West Sacramento. He served his country in the US Army during WWII and was a retired printer from the State of California Office of State Printing.

Memorial services were held on March 26, 2007 in the First Baptist Church in West Sacramento. Cremation arrangements were entrusted to the River Cites Funeral Chapel of West Sacramento.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The "Big Dance" is down to only four contestants for the big showdown on Saturday in Atlanta as the NCAA gets set to crown the new men's basketball champion. The finalists include the Georgetown Hoyas, who upset North Carolina to reach the final four. The Hoyas will dance with the nation's No. 1 ranked team Ohio State Buckeyes (3:07 p.m.). The other two finalists will feature a rematch of last year's championship game between Florida and UCLA (5:47 p.m.).

Last week was a tough week to pick winners during the "Sweet Sixteen" battles and this week presents a little bit more of a challenge. In the first game I think Ohio State has too many tools for Georgetown to handle especially with their All-American 7-foot center Greg Oden. This freshman could right his own ticket to the NBA if he decides to go play with the big boys in the NBA.

In the other semifinal game the UCLA Bruins have All-American guard Arron Afflalo but he won't be enough to dethrone the Florida Gators. Ohio State is capable of winning the whole enchilada but I think the Florida Gators will repeat as the NCAA national champions. The last team to win back-to-back titles was the Duke Blue Devils in 1991-92.

NFL Notes

The NFL released part of the 2007 Kickoff Weekend schedule with a Monday night doubleheader on Sept. 10th. The Baltimore Ravens will tackle the Cincinnati Bengals in the first game followed by the 49ers hosting Arizona from Monster Park. The first regular season game will kickoff on Thursday, Sept. 6th with the defending Super Bowl champion Colts hosting the New Orleans Saints. The rest of the NFL schedule will be release in mid-April.

Kings Korner

The Sacramento Kings playoff hopes are barely alive especially after their stunning upset win at home Sunday afternoon against the division leading Suns. The Kings finally put together an impressive team effort that was televised nationally on NBC. The bad news was the Kings players were tossed around like rag dolls by the aggressive play of the Phoenix Suns.

Kevin Martin was injured by a foul that sent him to the see an eye specialist after being poked in the eye in the second quarter while Francisco Garcia received the same treatment as he attempted a lay up. Brad Miller and Kenny Thomas were injured and didn't suit up but boy did Mike Bibby put on a show to remember scoring 37 points that included a franchise record 9 three pointers!

Both players are OK and Miller and Thomas are also scheduled to return to action this week so now the Kings are in their final fight to reach the 8th and final spot in the playoffs. The Kings will enjoy four days off before hosting the Los Angeles Clippers on Friday night. Kings, who trail the 8th seed Clippers by 4 games, must win Friday night or the season is over!

The Kings odds of the Kings reaching the playoffs are not good especially with 12 games remaining and four playoff bound teams like the Lakers, Mavericks, Nuggets and Utah Jazz next on their list of opponents. Ouch!

Korner Kicks

The United States national soccer team spanked Ecuador 3-1 last Sunday in Tampa Bay with 31,000 fans cheering on the red, white and blue. Landon Donavan had his second career hat trick for the USA as the national team prepares for their CONCACAF Gold Cup games and the 2007 Copa America July Tournament in Venezuela.

On Wednesday night in another International Friendly in Oakland the Mexican National team will play Ecuador at the sold-out McAfee Coliseum (8 p.m.).

On the local level the Central California Soccer League champion Real San Juan will play the United States League's newest 1st divisions franchise the California Victory from San Francisco in Sacramento on Friday, April 6th at ARC Stadium. The Victory is a professional team owned and affiliated with Deportivo Alaves of Spain. Tickets are priced at $10 with kids getting in for $6 and parking is free. Between the Ropes

Sacramento's Rogelio Castaneda Jr. will be back in action on Thursday, April 12th headlining the Feather Falls Casino fight night at the Arco Arena. Castaneda (23-11-3 8KO's) tangle with Ubaldo Hernandez (21-17-10 KO's) of Fort Meyers, FL in a 10 round bout. Tickets prices are $77.25, $52.25, $37.25 and $24.25 and or on sale at the Arco Arena Box Office or ticketmaster.com.

Raider tennis leads league

From River City H.S.

With an 8-1 victory over visiting West Campus, the River City High School tennis team took over sole possession of first place in the Capital Valley Conference last week. The Raiders swept the four singles matches and won four of the five doubles contests to improve to 4-0 in CVC play.

Chris Salazar led the way for RC, quickly winning the top boys singles match 6-0,6-1. Cindy Yang took care of her opponent at #1 girls singles 6-4,6-0. In the #2 singles spots, Josel Tanjutco (6-2,6-3) and Yelena Ionova (6-4,6-3) also won in straight sets.

Kehoua Saechao and Adrian Araza "bageled" their opponents at #2 boys doubles, 10-0, while both the #1 boys doubles pair of Brandon Yip and Gary Yang, and the mixed doubles team of Dandy Phouanglasy and Doug Tipton dropped just a game in 10-1 wins. The girls doubles contests were split with the host's Anna Bouttavong and Yian Saetern winning 10-4 at #1 and Tamara Lopatin and Julie Saeteurn falling 7-10 at #2.

The Raiders ran their overall record to 10-1 in 2007 with a 7-2 non-league win over visiting Argonaut. In boys singles, Salazar and Tanjutco each lost just two games. In the girls singles matches, Cindy Yang won 6-3,6-2 and Bouttavong triumphed 6-2,6-2. Yip and Gary Yang lost the top boys doubles contest 7-10 and Phouanglasy and Yian Saetern dropped a narrow 9-10(3) decision at #1 girls doubles, but RC easily took the remaining doubles matches. The highlight was Saechao and Araza's second shutout in as many days, 10-0 at #2 boys. Svetlana Istomin and Xia Yang breezed to a 10-2 win at #2 girls and Tipton teamed with Julie Saeteurn for a 10-6 victory in mixed.

RC travels to Whitney of the Pioneer Valley League today and hosts fellow CVC member Foothill tomorrow at 4 p.m. on the Raider tennis courts.

LEARNING LIFE SKILLS

Desire Is The Key To Learning A Language

(NAPS)—The ability to speak a foreign language can bring a number of advantages—better job opportunities, more enjoyable educational experiences and stimulating encounters with other cultures.

The good news, according to Barry Farber, the host of the PBS special "Learn Any Language," is that anyone with the desire can acquire another language.

Learning a foreign language can offer a variety of opportunities, from new jobs to stimulating educational experiences.

The author of "How to Learn Any Language," Farber is a radio broadcaster who has learned to speak over two dozen languages on his own.

He believes the learning system known as the Pimsleur method is the closest thing we have to a "grammar implant." Said Farber, "Without feeling it, or even knowing it, the grammar of the language is inculcated into you."

The language-learning program is used by the FBI, CIA and many business professionals. Pimsleur programs are being offered by PBS stations as premiums during fundraising pledge drives.

POLICE LOG

March 20

Sacramento police reported that a man wanted for a Sacramento robbery was located in West Sacramento. The suspect had pointed a gun at a subject during the store robbery and pulled the trigger, but the gun had failed to fire. His vehicle was located after he fled. But when the suspect called West Sacramento police to report the vehicle "stolen," police responded to "take the report" and arrested him. He was taken into custody by Sacramento police.

March 20, 7:40 p.m.

A victim reported that a suspect with a gun ordered him out of his 2003 GMC Yukon and stole the vehicle, in an incident at a gas station on Evergreen Avenue near Harbor.

March 20, night

An officer responding to cover another officer on a call was involved in an accident at the corner of Park and Jefferson Blvds. He was transported to UCD Medical Center "for observation" and was reported to have no life-threatening injuries.

March 21, 5 p.m.

West Sacramento police were notified by CHP dispatch that a vehicle matching the description of one "carjacked" in West Sacramento the prior day at Evergreen Avenue had bee located abandoned in Sacramento on the 6600 block of Florin Road. The vehicle was found to be the same, and was impounded as evidence.

March 21, 4:53 p.m.

A man in the Meadowdale Park area was arrested for assaulting his girlfriend.

March 22, 2 a.m.

An officer stopped a man for vehicle code violations on a bicycle on Madrone Avenue. A probation search turned up a "small amount" of marijuana and methamphetamine. The subject was jailed.

March 23, daytime

A subject "attempted to take $400 more in merchandise during a store transaction involving cigarettes," and was arrested.

March 23

A police community services officer took a report that suspects had broken into a city-owned workshop and stole lawnmowers and a trailer.

March 23

A man was arrested near 3rd and D streets for stabbing someone in the leg.

March 25

A 2006 GMC truck rental with an Arizona license plate was stolen from the parking lot of a hotel on Evergreen Avenue.

United Way leader

Sacramento Logistics/C&S Wholesale Grocers of West Sacramento received an award this month for increasing its annual United Way contribution 120 percent, to $13,338.

Accepting the award was Dana Kelly (above).

United Way works with regional nonprofits to promote projects in education, health, safety and self-sufficiency.

Sacramento is going to be looking for local property owners to help foot the bill, with an anticipated bond measure going out for a property owners' vote in May.

"The overall cost (of repairs) is likely to be in the neighborhood of $400 million," said Patek, "but the amount we're looking to receive in the assessment is about $42 million. The rest is coming from the state and federal governments."

Shanna Zuspan of the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency is helping to crunch the numbers on that bond proposal, and figuring the formula for how each property owner would be taxed to pay it back.

"The formula...is being worked on right now," said Zuspan. "It would include several factors, including the size of the parcel, the first-floor square footage of the structure, the kind of land use and the depth of flooding in an uncontrolled event."

The measure will ask for bonding capacity, in perpetuity, of around $42 million adjusted for inflation.

Working together on flood prevention is a coalition involving three local "reclamation district" agencies and the city government.

The city has just created the position of a single "flood protection manager," and hired Willard Tim Chow to fill that spot.

Yesterday, the first of four planned public workshops was planned at city hall to discuss local flood protection. The agenda was designed essentially to provide an overview of "where we've been, and where we are now," said Chow.

An April 17 workshop is scheduled to provide information on emergency preparedness; one on May 15 will focus on the proposed assessment district; and a June 5 workshop will be held to answer questions about the proposed assessment. Each will take place at 6:30 p.m. at the civic center, 1110 West Capitol Avenue.

good land use policies," added Cabaldon.

Brooke Lee of "ICLEA: League of Governments for Sustainability" invited West Sacramento to join the league and audit city carbon emissions, then target the best ways to cut down. She said that by doing things that save energy, the city will also save money.

"It makes sense that if you're consuming less, you're spending less," she told the council. "And the things that reduce carbon emissions are also important to air quality."

Levi Benkert of LJ Urban development company, which is building projects in West Sacramento's "Washington" neighborhood near the I Street Bridge, said environmentalism adds value.

"Environment and profit go together now, and it's pretty exciting," said Benkert. "Green" homes cost 4-7 percent more to build, but sell more quickly than others, support a price premium of 8-10 percent and generate more satisfaction and loyalty from their owners, he told the council.

Council member Wes Beers, like his colleagues, favored a look at new "green" policies for West Sacramento, but counseled that somebody will have to make the case that they are good for the local pocketbook.

"At the end of the day, there has to be research showing that these things pencil out economically in order to attract a larger audience," said Beers.

"I think it's pretty clear the evidence is mounting that greenhouse gas emissions by humans is real," added fellow councilman Mark Johannessen. "I'm not really sure there's a good definition of 'green'... we need to get stakeholders involved, and we need to look at the impacts of alternatives."

One member of the public, Mary Lasell, was skeptical, saying "global warming is cyclical."

But the council directed staff to proceed with looking for ways to "go green," and bring those ideas up through the city government for possible approval.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento river registered three feet seven inches U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday. During the past ten days a bar has been showing just north of the Southern Pacific bridge but at high tide it is completely out of sight.

A dredger is at work south of the M street bridge cleaning the channel of the stream to permit steamers to turn after leaving the S. P. wharves. The sand and debris thrown up by the dredger will help strengthen the levee and may subsequently be used for filling for the state highway that is about to be built to connect with the M street bridge. The dredger is also cleaning out a space for barges in front of the bean warehouse south of the M street bridge.

The California Cooperative Crop Reporting Service in its issue for July 1st reports as follows:

Hops—Reports of July 1st from growers and dealers indicate a decrease in the acreage that is being worked, from 6,000 acres in 1924 to 5,400 acres in 1925. The probable production is estimated to be 7,897,000 pounds, compared with 8,700,000 pounds last year. Oregon growers are working 12,000 acres of hops, the same as last year, but the forecast of production is only 10,819,000 pounds for 1925 as compared with 12,600,000 pounds in 1924. In Washington production is forecasted at 4,257,000 pounds as compared with 4,033,000 pounds last year. The acreage was 2,350 in 1924 and 2,400 in 1925.

Sugar Beets—The area planted to sugar beets this year is estimated to be 100,000 acres and the production is forecasted at 735,000 tons. Last year there were 785,000 tons produced on 84,000 acres harvested and the total production of sugar amounted to 131,000 tons.

Pasture—The July 1st condition of pasture in California was 95 per cent of a normal as compared with 99 one month ago; 52 on July 1st last year and a 10-year average of 80.

Tame Hay—Tame hay production in California for 1925 is estimated to involve 1,860,000 acres which is segregated in classes as follows: Alfalfa, 1,023,000; grain hays, 684,000, and other miscellaneous tame hay, 155,000 acres. The state average of condition on a production basis is very good for all of these types, showing a combined condition of all tame hay of 100 per cent. This may be compared with a similar report one year ago of 79 per cent and a ten-year average of 85. At this time a total production of 5,155,000 tons is indicated. The estimated production in 1924 was 4,823,000 tons. Considerable hay was damaged in quality and some entirely lost by rains occurring in late May.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Sacramento held a picnic at the Westgate picnic grounds yesterday, which was enjoyed by a great number of old ladies and young children. Unfortunately, the heat of the afternoon became so intense that the ladies were forced to return to their homes instead of waiting for the cool of the evening for their dances and entertainment.

Leslie F. Miller is now comfortably installed in his new home in Westgate. His is practically the first family to get completely settled although Superintendent Shea, who is employed by McAnulty Brothers, has his family on the ground, but his home is not entirely complete.

T. D. McAnulty has been out of town for several days but is expected to return this (Friday) morning.

J. R. Atkinson and wife have left their homes in West Sacramento to go on a camping trip for a couple of weeks.

Richard Nickell has gone to his former home in Kansas to visit friends and relatives and expects to be absent for a period of six weeks or two months.

The temperature registered at the West Side Auto Camp yesterday afternoon at 5 p. m. read 109 and at the time of the reading the heat of the day had not subsided to any degree. McNally anticipated that the theremometer would reach 112 before sunset.

The West Side Auto Camp reports increased travel by tourists from the north and east since July 4th. Although a night and day service is maintained at the camp it has been found impossible to provide accommodations for those applying every evening during the past two weeks. Fortunately, other camps in the neighborhood are less busy than the West Side Camp and provide accommodations for those who cannot be housed at the West Side Auto Camp.

Mrs. Joe Pereira has been very seriously sick during the past week and was in a serious condition yesterday. She has suffered a complete nervous collapse which physicians believe cannot be relieved until she gets out of town for an extended vacation.

On July 11th L. M. Black of San Francisco was arrested by Traffic Officer Jacobs on the highway west of town for speeding at the rate of 44 miles per hour. Appearing before Judge Barry, Black pleaded guilty and was fined $10 with the caution that if he appeared again the fine would be heavier.

James Lee, whose address is 21 Ross street, San Francisco, was arrested on July 5th by Traffic Officer Jacobs on a charge of cutting in. Being in a great hurry, Lee asked that he be not required to appear before Judge Barry that day but promised that he would subsequently make his appearance. He was notified to appear on July 11th but failed to do so. A warrant has now been issued for his arrest and certainly Judge Barry is in no frame of mind to deal leniently with him when he puts in his appearance.

Ed Webber of Oakland was arrested on July 4th by Traffic Officer Jacobs on a charge of cutting in. Following his arrest he promised to appear for trial but failed to do so. He has written to Judge Barry, however, claiming that he is not guilty. In his case, also, a warrant of arrest has been issued and if he fails to appear he is bound to get into trouble.

Miss Gyneth Meyers, with her grandmother, Mrs. J. Sherman, will leave next Saturday for Indian Valley, where they expect to spend their vacation. Miss Meyers will stay a week but Mrs. Sherman may remain for a month or two.

The dance held in the town hall last Saturday night under the direction of Mrs. L. M. Gilstrap was one of the best conducted in the building during many months. Mrs. Gilstrap was highly pleased with the way she has been treated and expresses her satisfaction at the large crowd that attends the dances and the pleasant surroundings that go along to make it agreeable for those attending.

J. McCarty, 900 Third street, was held up late Saturday night by three Mexicans, one of whom had a pistol and another a knife, while returning from Washington to Sacramento on the M street bridge. The footpads relieved him of $20 in currency, a bank deposit receipt for $100 and a check in the amount of $32.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cameron went to Roseville last week to attend the 25th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McManus.

Mrs. Emma Reinersman is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. A. Hart.

Charles Fontana soon will move into his new $4,500 home at Bryte.

Jack Painter of Brooklyn arrived here to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Painter. He is now in San Francisco, but will return.

Mrs. Minnie Enright is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Speicher have moved to 510 Third street.

Dr. O. Ziegler of Oakland and August Ziegler of Los Angeles were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clunes.

Fred Marty is home after a two weeks' visit at the F. M. Buckingham home in Paradise Valley, Nev.

Charles and Arthur Higgs have returned to Vallejo after spending the week-end with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Doyle of Sacramento spent the week-end at Dillon's Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. George, Miss Gyneth Meyers, Miss Lois Collins, P. A. Hart and his son, Fred, spent Sunday at Lake Tahoe.

Willie Dupzyk has returned from San Francisco.

Westgate Pump Started Today To Clean Out Well and To Furnish a Supply of Water for the District

A large gang of employes of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has been busy during the past ten days extending power lines throughout the Westgate district so that all homes may have a supply of juice and all factories may be furnished with power.

The first power unit to demand use is the pumping plant erected by the trustees of the West Sacramento district.

This pump is ready to start and was started this morning to clean out the well that was sunk about two months ago.

The well is 800 feet in depth, measuring six inches at the bottom and about 12 inches at the surface.

It has been lined with two sets of casing between which there has been poured a filling of concrete.

In this way all surface water has been shut out and the test that the new pump will administer to the well in this first cleaning out will show how far the well can go to furnish a plentiful supply of water.

Yesterday afternoon the motor that will operate the pump was connected with the power wires but the pump was not started because necessary precautions were needed to prevent any accident at the start.

The pump will be operated for several days without intermission so that any debris that may be found in the well will be cleaned out. The water in the well at the present writing is at a level of less than 30 feet but the suction pipe extends downward to a depth of over 150 feet.

The power lines of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company have been extended to all blocks where houses are now being built. This insures a supply of juice as soon as homes are ready for occupancy. As a matter of fact, many homes that are now nearing completion have been connected so there will be no delay when owners wish to move in.

BOOSTERS' CLUB HAD NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE TO DISCUSS

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters' club last Tuesday evening nothing of material character was discussed outside of the cleaning up of the sidewalk between the end of the S. P. bridge and the town hall.

Dry weeds and grass are encumbering this sidewalk which fronts a piece of property owned by the Southern Pacific company and the sidewalk is narrow and slippery in the winter time.

Ray Peek was appointed a committee of one to interview the division engineer in Sacramento and ask that the employes or section gang in the neighborhood clean up the sidewalk and put it in shape for the winter season.

JAPANESE BALL GAME DREW GREAT CROWD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Not less than 3000 people and at least 1000 automobiles were present at the Japanese ball grounds west of the Fifth street subway on the state highway yesterday afternoon when a picked Sacramento team met the team of the University of Japan in a ball game contest.

The game was interesting because at many points the University of Japan team had been winners and had shown a great aptitude to play professional baseball.

Meeting the Sacramento team for the first time, the university team went down to defeat by a score of 6 to 4 in favor of Sacramento.

The surprising part of it was how so many people found time, nearly all Japanese, to attend a ball game on a working day afternoon.

Nevertheless, a splendid crowd of about 3,000 people crammed the grandstand and filled the bleachers even onto the field.

Last night in Sacramento the visiting team was banqueted and a general celebration was held by the Japanese of this district to show their good will to the visitors.

A. K. TICHENOR MAKES SURVEY AROUND WESTGATE

Last Wednesday a survey of the West Sacramento district, including Westgate, was made by A. K. Tichenor, one of the committee of the bondholders of the West Sacramento district.

On his tour of inspection he was taken around by Mr. A. F. Turner, secretary of the trustees of Reclamation District No. 900.

Mr. Tichenor paid particular attention to the crops and improvements made by the Alaska Packers' Association on their lands in the district. He is vice-president and general superintendent of the properties of the Alaska Packers' Association.

The inspection made by Mr. Tichenor, according to report, was very pleasing to him and he left with a splendid impression of the progress being made by the men in charge, especially that of Mr. Jongeneel.

BOOTLEGGER FOUND IN MONUMENT SCHOOL PROVES TO BE BURGLAR

On many occasions the Independent has drawn attention to the almost universal practice of distilling in Yolo county but never before has it been found that bootleggers or distillers were using the public school buildings to carry on their work.

Farmers of Yolo county find it difficult to hold their workingmen and as a consequence have taken to distilling in order to have on hand sufficient liquor for their men.

Unless this liquor is on hand the workingmen visit Woodland, Sacramento and Knights Landing every Saturday evening and because of the plentiful supply of booze fail to show up on Monday mornings.

During harvest season the farmer finds it absolutely necessary to have all his help on hand Monday morning. Otherwise, his gangs are incomplete and his work is delayed.

The story below has been clipped from the Woodland Mail just to show how hard it is to prevent working men from securing liquor:

"Monument schoolhouse at Elkhorn, meeting place of farm centers, farm home women, used for socials and general meetings aside from being a cosy, convenient and attractive study room for ambitious girls and boys of the district, served a new purpose during the past week, when two unknown itinerants converted the handsome little fancy brick building into a distillery and were found yesterday by Martin Marty, who lives beside the schoolhouse, manufacturing moonshine in large quantities, the still occupying one of the two class rooms.

"Marty, according to information received here, was attracted to the place by the presence of the men within. The schoolhouse had been entered and burglarized several times of late, and at first, according to the meager details received here yesterday, it was thought that another effort was being made to ransack the place.

"Marty, a husky, one of the men instrumental in the construction of the handsome school building, entered and discovered the men making jackass brandy. Both invaders started to make a quick getaway, Marty taking after one of them down the levee.

"The fellow gave fight, and it was reported to Sheriff J. W. Monroe that the bootlegger and pursuer fought back and forth, tumbling about the levee, until Marty had his man subdued. Constable Frank Wilson at Broderick was located and rushed to the assistance of Marty, returning the prisoner to the Washington jail for court hearing.

"The second bootlegger took advantage of the fight between his company and Marty and left for other points. Effort to locate him proved futile. Constable Wilson could not be located yesterday to either give the mans name or give the details of the condition in which the school room was found. It was reported, however, to Monroe that a complete moonshine still with plenty of mash and some of the product were scattered about the place.

"The authorities declare that there are a number of traveling bootleggers in Yolo county who have invaded barns and vacant places to make a supply of illicit liquor, moving on as they found it convenient.

"The boldness of the men in invading the brand new school house to manufacture their contraband beverage was held quite unusual—the first case of the kind in the section of the valley.

"Miss Adele P. Marty was instructor at the Monument school last term."

BURGLARY COMPLAINT SWORN TO

Woodland, July 14.—Martin Marty, Elkhorn rancher who captured John Judelites last Saturday afternoon, appeared this afternoon before District Attorney George T. Kern and swore to a complaint charging Judelites with burglary. This charge was agreed upon following a conference between Marty and Kern.

At the time the complaint was sworn to it was tentatively agreed that Judelites will be arraigned tomorrow morning. However, it was possible that he would be called for immediate arraignment late this afternoon.

DR. BOYD ASSAULTED BUT NOT BADLY INJURED

Last Tuesday evening Dr. Boyd was assaulted near his home in Westgate by an itinerant worker he had employed during the day to cut down weeds.

Dr. Boyd had been doing some work for the West Sacramento Company on their land and orchard and hired the man to do the work for him. Specifying a certain amount for the work to be done, Dr. Boyd paid some of the amount due but refused to pay the entire amount until the job was completed.

The man apparently left the place satisfied but hung around the woodyard owned by the Sacramento Fuel and Feed Company until late in the evening.

In the meantime Dr. Boyd and his family went to a theater in Sacramento and on his return to his home was hailed by the workingman from across

Woodland, July 14.—Closing the affairs of the Henry P. Eakle, Sr., estate, the report of Referee William Gould was filed yesterday. It shows that distribution has been made of the moneys derived from the sale for $90,000 of the Eakle properties.

The shares are apportioned as follows: Emma C. Eakle, $11,074.21; Mary Switzer, $12,290.27; Stephen S. Eakle, $12,712.02; Stephen Smith Eakle, $11,589.58; W. H. Eakle, $14,331.44; children of W. H. Eakle, $10,070.16; Lowell Eakle, $10,020; unborn heir, $75.

OPINION

FROM THE MAILBAG:

Letters to the Editor

Mismanagement

First, I'd like to thank the News-Ledger for the editorial in last week's paper – it hit the nail on the head! I attended the "special meeting" (of the school board on March 24) along with one other community member.

We found it interesting that when we tried to ask any questions or get clarification on something we were told that the public could not participate in the discussion because it was a "workshop for the Board."

The meeting was run by a team-building consultant hired through California School Board Association. I am not opposed to the workshop itself and feel it's way overdue but I am opposed to the fact that all public meetings are suppose to allow the public to participate. That is after all the intention of our forefathers who structured our government and instituted the Constitution so that the government would be run for the people by the people. Unfortunately, our school board and district administration would like to shut down the public as much as possible, at least those of us that challenge them.

There was no tape recording of the meeting, as required by the Board's by-laws, and the only minutes or notes that will be recorded will be provided by the gentlemen that ran the meeting. Although I was not surprised by the questions and comments of some of the Board members, I do find it disturbing that they want to know ways to overcome our objections and comments, finding ways to shut down negative comments. If they would read their agenda in it's entirety as well as the Brown Act, they would see that they cannot prevent any comments made by the public.

The board plans on changing the agenda around so that the "Public Comments" are at the end of the meeting and not at the beginning by justifying that "it will make the meetings go faster and allow them to get to the action items right away." I find it hard to believe that the 20 minutes allowed at the beginning of the meeting is really the reason that the meetings go on so long.

While I feel the workshop was a good idea and maybe helpful in some respects, I do feel that some of the board members' questions to the consultant were worded in such away to get the answer they wanted to justify some of their latest conduct that violate the Brown Act and their own by-laws as well as government and educational codes. Another interesting thing brought up by (board member Matt) Stegman, is that he feels there is too much information in the agenda packets and that the Board hires the Superintendent, who the board trusts to conduct the business of the district, and he doesn't feel it is his job as a board member to question or oversee the human resource issues, expenditures and other things brought before the board. While I think it's great he trusts the Superintendent so much, the job of the Board is to oversee that the business of the district is following policy and the by-laws of the district. Hence, lots of information in a board agenda as well as a chance for the public to ask any questions regarding the districts business.

The "general" school board meeting held last Thursday was another disturbing event. I will try to be brief on the most pressing issue, the overrun costs of the new high school and elementary school #9. After many questions from the public (none of which were answered) and a few from the board itself, we were finally told that the new high school's price tag is "around" $163 million to $168 million. I must publicly thank board member Dave Westin for holding district staff's feet to the fire to get an answer at all on the amount. I am greatly disturbed that no dollar amounts were on any of the handouts for this item other than dollars per square feet.

In my opinion, the presentation and handout for this issue was very deceiving but I guess that's because they don't want us to know the bottom line since it may effect the K-8 issue and proposed bond issue. Elementary School #9 wasn't really discussed that much and I never did get a clear answer as to just how much over budget we are on that school. Again, how can we push forward on K-8 schools when we can't fund the project's currently under construction? What is the back up plan if the bond doesn't pass? We need to be fiscally responsible so that we don't bankrupt this district. A lot of teacher's were given "pink slips" and told they may not have a job next year because of budget issues. How do you justify adding even more budget issues? How will we be able to financially furnish and staff these fancy new buildings if we can't afford who is already in our classrooms or was that just another lie?

All of these issues are affecting our kids and what goes on in the classroom. Morale is the lowest I've ever seen and I truly did not think that was possible with some of the issues our district has faced over the last few years. We as taxpayers, also need to remember that we will be asked not only to fund the proposed school bond to pay for debt already incurred but we will also be looking at a much needed bond to fix our levees that aren't as secure as what we were led to believe.

Punish the criminals

The headline: "Focus gun control on the criminals", by Eugene Robinson, in Saturday's daily fish wrap from across the river, actually (and probably accidentally) has it right. I suppose that one could charitably infer that Mr. Robinson is finally realizing that the Constitution, it's Preamble, and it's Bill of Rights, actually means what it says; every time if references "the people" it means "individuals", and not "the (collective) state". He's struggling with a foreign concept, such as: "We the People...", for example. Since "there are liars, damn liars and statisticians", he then relies on a mere portion of the mounting evidence that while gun violence is down in the UK, actual violence has increased five-fold in the same time period, and is rising alarmingly.

That he apparently believes the canard that law-abiding citizens are incapable of not shooting themselves or others, either accidentally or on purpose (which is an out-and-out lie), is illustrative of his mind-set. After all, to a liberal, it is much easier to punish the law-abiding and consider them incapable of self-reliance, than it is to hold criminals to account for their transgressions without making excuses for their antisocial behavior and coddling them to the point of further criminality.

CRITIC'S CORNER
By D.N.A Smith

"300"

Running time: 117 minutes
MPAA rating: R

First off, let's get out of the way all the things "300" ISN'T: It's not a history lesson. It's not a film to be taken seriously, like "Schindler's List." It's based on a comic book, and as such, don't expect too much in the way of great writing or character development.

"300" is nearly two hours of dudes in sandals whompin' the bejabbers out of each other.

Cool.

The film is based on an actual historical event, the Battle of Thermopylae, which took place in 480 B.C., where for several days, 300 Spartans led by King Leonidas held back an invasion of a bajillion invading Persians (led by self-proclaimed god, Xerxes) at that narrow pass on the coast of Greece.

The movie is basically nothing but the battle. There's no real backstory to speak of, and maybe 20 minutes of subplot involving a traitor in the Spartan Senate.

Other than that, "300" is a non-stop adrenaline rush as you watch wave after wave of Persian warriors, rhinos, monsters and ninjas (YES!) get clobbered, filleted, decapitated, shish kabobed and ground into chutney by the plucky band of Greek warriors.

Gerald Butler as King Leonidas

The CGI in this movie is top-notch. The battle scenes are so incredibly stylized, they rank right up there with films like "Braveheart," "Lawrence of Arabia" and the "Lord of the Rings" saga. If you have a chance to watch "300" at an IMAX theater, I highly recommend it.

GRADE: B+

Jill Jackson's HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD ... Thanks to "Zodiac," Jake Gyllenhaal is hotter than ever, and that hardly seems possible after all the kudos for "Brokeback Mountain." Ever working, he's now before the cameras in "Rendition" with Meryl Streep, Reese Witherspoon and Alan Arkin. This about a CIA operative in the Middle East who questions his assignment after observing a secret-police grilling of a suspect in a suicide bombing. Jake also received kudos for his work in "This Is Our Youth" opposite Anna Paquin onstage in Britain. I like everything about this fine young actor except his name. Every time I write about him, I have to look it up to make sure I spelled it right. GYLLENHAAL "ain't" easy!

Aside to Patsy K. of Birmingham, Ala.: No. The Julianne Moore you went to school with was not the Julianne Moore of the screen. The showbiz J. Moore was born Julianne Smith in Fort Bragg, N.C. And no, Julianne is no relation to Demi. Sooo, if your bet was about names, you lose. Sorry.

Walt Disney left behind a studio, theme parks, wondrous characters for kids and entertainment for everyone. If you want to know more about this remarkable man, there is a book out titled "Walt Disney: The Triumph of American Imagination" that tells it all. It's by Neal Gabler and published by Alfred A. Knopf. You'll definitely want to read and reread about Mickey and Minnie and all the others and how they came about.

Once again Hollywood is making movies and not giving out an award almost every week. Alan Arkin is set to co-star with Steve Carell in a big-screen version of "Get Smart," and John Travolta is hoping to have his wife, Kelly Preston, and daughter Ella Blue cast with him in "Old Dogs," not about canines, but about two guys who become middle-aged fathers. ... Then there's the true-crime thriller "Lonely Hearts," again with Travolta, plus James Gandolfini, Jared Leto, Salma Hayek, Scott Caan and Laura Dern ready for distribution. This about an investigation into an infamous killing spree by "Lonely Hearts" killers.

Jake Gyllenhaal

Want some fun, frolic and "R and R" away from the crowds of Malibu, Santa Monica and other beach cities? Try the Portofino Hotel and Yacht Club in the charming little town of Redondo Beach south of Los Angeles. It's on the water with a view of the Pacific from most of the rooms. To make it a Hollywood news column item, the movie "Cannonball Run" was shot there.

Aside to Bella G. of Seattle. As to that while silk scarf around Jon Voight's neck. I've never seen him anywhere without it. But then again, I've never seen him in bed.

BITS 'N' PIECES: Helen Mirren isn't the only award winner in the family. Husband Taylor Hackford won the top award for his documentary about the concert that celebrated Chuck Berry's 60th birthday in 1986. ... Brad and Angelina's blond baby Shiloh is "the spittin' image" of her dad. ... Spotted Paris recently driving a blue Bentley on Sunset Boulevard instead of skipping up and down past her favorite newsstand. ... And to Peter Y. of Santa Rosa, Calif.: Jack Nicholson plays a cancer patient taking chemo in his next film. That's why he appeared at the Oscars with his head shaved. ... I'm still amazed there weren't more flu germs spread around, what with all the huggin' and kissin' at the Academy Awards and awards parties.

Good Housekeeping

Pineapple-Glazed Ham

Here's our recipe for this time-honored classic.

PREP: 15 minutes
BAKE: 2 hours 10 minutes
MAKES: 20 main-dish servings

- 1 fully cooked smoked bone-in ham (14 pounds)
- 1 can (20 ounces) crushed pineapple, drained
- 1 cup packed dark brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard

1. Preheat oven to 325 F. With sharp knife, remove skin and trim fat from ham, leaving about 1/4-inch-thick layer of fat. Place ham on rack in large roasting pan (17-by-11 1/2 inches). Bake ham 1 hour 45 minutes.

2. Meanwhile, prepare pineapple glaze: In medium bowl, combine pineapple, brown sugar and mustard until blended. Remove ham from oven. Brush pineapple mixture on ham. Bake until meat thermometer inserted in thickest part of ham (not touching bone) reaches 135 F, 25 to 30 minutes longer. Internal temperature of ham will rise to 140 F upon standing. Transfer ham to warm platter and let stand 15 minutes to set juices for easier slicing.

• Each serving: About 193 calories, 21g protein, 15g carbohydrate, 5g total fat (2g saturated), 47mg cholesterol, 1,151mg sodium.

Favorite Baked Ham Glazes

Prepare one of the glazes below and substitute for the pineapple glaze in Step 2 of Pineapple-Glazed Ham. During the last 30 minutes of roasting time, brush the glaze over the ham two or three times.

MELBA GLAZE

- 2/3 cup peach preserves
- 1/2 cup red raspberry jelly or jam

In small saucepan, heat peach preserves and raspberry jelly until melted and smooth. Makes about 1 cup.

TOMATO AND ONION GLAZE

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

In small saucepan, melt butter over medium heat. Add onion and cook until tender. Stir in tomato sauce, brown sugar and Worcestershire; heat to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer until glaze thickens, about 5 minutes. Makes about 1 cup.

Cherry Fruit Salad

An old-time salad with a healthy makeover for your Easter table.

- 1 (20-ounce) can Lucky Leaf No Sugar Added Cherry Pie Filling
- 1/2 cup Splenda Granular
- 1 cup Cool Whip Lite
- 1 cup (1 medium) diced banana
- 1 (8-ounce) can pineapple tidbits, packed in fruit juice, drained
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows

In a large glass bowl, combine cherry pie filling, Splenda and Cool Whip Lite. Add banana and pineapple. Mix gently to combine. Fold in marshmallows. Cover and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes. Gently stir again just before serving. Serves 8.

HINTS: 1) To prevent banana from turning brown, mix with 1 teaspoon lemon juice or sprinkle with Fruit Fresh. 2) If you can't find tidbits, use chunk pineapple and coarsely chop.

• Each serving equals: 105 calories, 1g fat, 0g protein, 24g carb., 11mg sodium, 5mg calcium, 2g fiber; Diabetic Exchanges: 1 Fruit, 1/2 Starch/Carb; Carb Choices: 1 1/2.

The Women Who Raised Me: A Memoir
By Victoria Rowell
(Harper Collins Publishers, $24.95)
Reviewed by Cindy Elavsky

From the moment little Vicki Lynn Bevans Sawyer Collins Rowell came into this world on May 10, 1959, she was thrust into the foster-care system. Her mother, Dorothy, was schizophrenic with four other children she did not have the means — mentally and monetarily — with which to raise them.

Thus began Victoria Rowell's journey into life. Victoria is best known to millions of people for portraying Drucilla Winters on "The Young and the Restless" for 13 years, as well as an eight-year tenure with "Diagnosis Murder." But what many did not know was that she spent the first 18 years of her life in foster care.

In that time, Victoria became the independent, altruistic and beautiful woman that she is today. And she credits her upbringing to many women who came in and out of her life, the women who raised her. Among those, her primary foster mother, Agatha Wooten Armstead, instilled in Victoria core values and the maternal love and warmth that she was so desperate for.

Along the way, friends, sisters, mothers of friends, teachers and agents became lifelong mentors and companions. They encouraged her natural and abundant talent in ballet, and later, in acting.

Victoria's lyric and descriptive voice is evident in this memoir, as she describes her home state of Maine with the same love and affection as her family and friends. In fact, Maine becomes a character itself, as the reader is introduced to little-known history about the northernmost region on America's East Coast.

Her story is one of survival, perseverance and the importance of family — whether you're born into it or are lucky enough that it finds you. Sometimes, it does indeed take a village to raise a child, and Victoria's life is glorious proof of that.

Eugenia Yuan

Daughter of martial-arts legend Cheng Pei Pei ("Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon"), beautiful Eugenia Yuan was actually a champion rhythmic gymnast for the U.S. Olympic team before she became an actress. Instead of inheriting her mother's kung fu crown, however, she opted to move away from martial arts toward dark, dramatic roles. Her big-screen debut was the controversial "Three Extremes," in which she stunned audiences when she appeared as a nude corpse lying motionless in a bathtub. It was her heart-wrenching soliloquy delivered from the grave, however, that won her the Oscar in Hong Kong as Best Newcomer.

You've seen Yaun in hits like Doug Liman's "Mail Order Wife," "The Eye 2" and "Memoirs of a Geisha," for which Jeweler Me&Ro launched a hair ornament inspired by Eugenia's character. You can see her in the recently released "Locked" opposite Jonathan Firth, and festival favorite "Choking Man" opposite Mandy Patinkin, which took a top honor at the prestigious Gotham Awards. She stars in two movies slated for release this year: "The Shanghai Hotel" opposite "CSI: NY's" Hill Harper, and "The Drummer" opposite Hong Kong star Tony Leung Ka Fai. What are the main differences between standard and generic Chinese food as it is served in the U.S and true Chinese cuisine as offered in Hong Kong? And which U.S. city has the best Chinatown for dining?

"Well, TRUE Chinese cuisine is served at home, cooked by your grandparents, parents, etc. Anywhere else, Chinese food has begun to fuse and adapt to be acceptable by all. Of course, it is best in Asia, but in the U.S. around Los Angeles in places like Monterey Park and Arcadia the food is pretty authentic. And the food in San Francisco's Chinatown is quite good, too."

If you owned a restaurant, who'd be there on opening night and what would you serve?

"My place would be like a big home kitchen, a tiny and quaint family restaurant, like the 'private kitchens' you find in Hong Kong. You learn about them through word of mouth, and they actually serve different cuisines, not just Chinese. You can get French, Indian, etc. I love the concept. On opening night it would be family and friends."

A food/beverage beauty secret?

"Rubbing egg whites on your face is like getting a facial, and it makes your skin more firm and tight. Rubbing raw egg yolk on your face is an excellent moisturizer."

Do you have a "sweet tooth"?

"I get on this episode where I want Red Vines every day. Then I get sick of them completely. Then I get on Almond Rocca, and I have to eat those every day. Then I get tired of that. Then it's Root Beer Bottles. Yummie. Yeah, I'm on them right now!"

BUNDLES OF GOLD (DUMPLINGS)

- 1 pound pork butt, coarsely ground
- 1 cup finely cut scallions
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon roasted sesame oil
- 1 tablespoon grated ginger root
- 1/2 pound Chinese napa cabbage, finely chopped
- 1 (1 pound) package of round (gyoza) dumpling wrappers (3-inch diameter)

Combine the first five ingredients in a large bowl and mix well so that the flavors penetrate the meat. Then add cabbage and mix thoroughly. It is vital that the combination takes place in two steps. Place a single wrapper on plate and spoon a scant tablespoon of the mixture in the middle. Dip your finger in water and draw a circle around the top edge of the dumpling wrapper. Using both hands, pinch and squeeze wrapping up in a bundle to resemble a bundle of gold. Place dumplings on wax paper. They can be placed in the freezer for up to three months. Or you can cook them immediately either in boiling water like fresh ravioli, or they can be pan fried. Serve with soy sauce and vinegar.

Job Opportunities

Jump-Start Your Job Search

(NAPS)—If "find a new job" is at the top of your "to do" list, you're in luck. The Web is making the job hunt easier than ever, and three key sites can give you a big advantage in your hunt for the ideal position.

Where to start? Your first stop should be Simply Hired (www.simplyhired.com), a search engine that is like a Google for jobs. Simply Hired searches thousands of different sites for job listings—not just the big job boards, but also niche boards, online classifieds, and company Web sites. With more than 5 million jobs in its database, Simply Hired has 10 times as many jobs as the brand-name job boards. You can also filter your search results to find exactly the job you want—a part-time position with a Fortune 500 company just 10 miles from home, for example.

To reach thousands of hiring managers easily, be sure to try Resume Post, a free service from Simply Hired (www.simplyhired.com/resumepost). Here, you can post your resume to multiple big job boards at once—sites like CareerBuilder, Monster and Job.com—rather than visit these sites one at a time. You'll save yourself a lot of hassle and will connect with companies actively looking for talent.

Your next stop should be LinkedIn (www.linkedin.com), a popular business networking site. More than half of all jobs are still found through personal connections, and LinkedIn helps you tap the people you know to connect with others at the companies that interest you.

EDUCATION News & Notes

Students Make Fishy Friends

(NAPS)—Fish are helping to school U.S. students.

Using aquariums in their classrooms, students are incubating and hatching salmon eggs. They then rear them until they're old enough to be released in streams, serving as a fun way to learn about life cycles, fish habitats and the environment.

Why are schools choosing Atlantic salmon, out of all other fish? It seems that although the numbers of fish in the ocean are being depleted, few have the "star" power of wild Atlantic salmon. In fact, educators say that when this celebrity fish calls an elementary school home, you can bet that fascinated kids are benefiting from the Atlantic Salmon Federation's Fish Friends program.

Local Scene

Meet councilman

West Sacramento City Councilman will hold a "community listening session" on Thursday, April 5, from 7-8:30 p.m. at the senior center, 664 Cummins Way. He will talk about issues affecting the city (and Bryte & Broderick neighborhoods in particular) and listen to residents' concerns about West Sacramento. Refreshments.

Good Friday

The public is welcome to a Good Friday worship service at Radiant Life Church in Southport, from 7-8:30 p.m. at 3605 Gregory Ave. (junction of Jefferson, Davis & Gregory). There will be worship, a dramatization by Capstone Theater Company, and Communion. Easter service will be at 10 a.m. Sunday. For information, call 371-6706.

Healthy eating

The Health Education Council of West Sacramento will sponsor a nutrition talk and food tasting from 6:30-7:30 p.m. on April 11 at the Arthur F. Turner Branch Library, 1212 Merkley Avenue. For information, call 375-6465, or email Cheryl Chapel at Cheryl.chapel@yolocounty.org.

Homebuying

A first-time homebuyer's class is scheduled for late April. The 8 hours of class will cover topics including obtaining a loan, house maintenance and financial management, and are sponsored by Mercy Housing California, a nonprofit organization. Completion may qualify you for down-payment assistance programs. There is a $60 fee for materials. For information or to RSVP (by April 18), call (800) 995-0431. Classes are 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on both April 21 & 28 in West Sacramento.

Car wash

The eighth grade students at Our Lady of Grace School will host a car wash on Sat., March 31 at Whitey's (15th & Jefferson). $7 for tickets in advance or $10 for drive-ups. Rain date is April 7. Refreshments for sale. Call Marty, 372-3417.

Dinner/auction

Our Lady of Grace School will hold its annual dinner & auction on Sat., April 28 at 1990 Linden Road. Auction preview at 5:30 p.m. $40 per person includes hosted bar & dinner. To donate, call 371-9416. For reservations, call Erin at 373-0241.

Public speaking

The "Toastmasters Club" in West Sacramento is looking for new members who wish to conquer their fear of public speaking and gain leadership and communication skills. The club now meets at Rural Community Assistance Corporation, 3120 Freeboard Dr., Ste. 201, at noon on Thursdays. For information, contact Julia Helmreich at 916-447-9832 ext. 1008 or juliah@rcac.org.

Casino trip

The River Cats Boosters are sponsoring a bus trip from West Sacramento to the Silver Legacy Hotel & Casino in Reno on Sat., March 31. Open to anyone 21 years old or above (ID required). $30 per person, and includes a casino rebate of $10 cash and $3 food credit, along with bus transportation, driver tip, refreshments, a movie and a raffle ticket. Bingo and onboard raffle available on the trip. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Call Annette Shaw, 375-4610.
